MEMORANDUM FOR THE DIRECTOR

1. This memorandum recommends action in Paragraph 4.

2. The State Department wishes to publish your 24 July 1959 remarks at the National Strategy Seminar in the State Department BULLETIN.

Permission is requested by State to delete so much of the first sentence on Page 13 as reads:

"including too many Soviet experts and technicians and here and there shoddy goods."

With this deletion the first sentence on Page 13 would read:

"Soviet economic aid is beginning to run into the same type of problems we face in our own aid program."

3. State says that it desires to publish your "Remarks" as a policy paper and could not do this unless the deletion is made. State says that your making this statement to a specific group, such as the Reserve Officers was not objectionable, but for State to include the objectionable sentence as is would not be advisable. The change does not, of course, do anything more than make a slight change of detail--the basic thought stands.

4. RECOMMENDATION: That State be authorized to make the deletion.
